A Letter to a Humanitarian

My Dear Sir: I received a letter from you today, and on the back of the envelope I observed the following, neatly printed:

"A Square Deal for the Horse"

"We believe that every horse deserves three ample meals daily; water frequently; proper shoes; a blanket in cold weather; a stall 6x9 feet or room enough to lie down; two week's vacation annually; much kindness; little whipping."

When I read that on a business envelope I knew not for a time whether I was in the body or out of the body, whether I was in Richmond or some celestial country. I thought my eyes were playing me false, and that for the moment I had been transported to some other state of being. I had read such evidence of humanity in journals devoted to the cause of those who could not speak for themselves, but in plain, cold matter of fact business literature such tokens of reason and mercy I had never seen. My astonishment was exceeded only by the pleasure which it gave me.

I wonder what the average horse owner, who has never thought much about kindness to dumb animals would say to such a declaration. I hope he would endorse its every line. I wish he would make it a part of his religious creed. I wish he would extend the Beatitude "Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy," to the entire brute creation. I wish he would do his hunting for sport with a camera, and that all others of every class would do the same. I wish all the citizens of Madison county would make such a statement of humane principles as the above, their own. They could make the world better for themselves by so doing, and for all who are a part of God's creation as well as we, even though they have been denied the gift of speech. They belong to a lower order than we, and for that reason demand protection and good treatment, as the helpless always do. Because the dumb creation is so helpless before man we should treat them as we should like to be treated if our places were exchanged.

Every good citizen will renounce with the man whose education has been so meagre as to forbid his realizing the duty of mercy to dumb animals. All growth in kindness and justice is a matter of education. Time was when the ancestors of the men who now maltreat horses with black snake whips and clubs, used similar instruments of torture on their defenseless wives. Education has shown us that wife-beating in civilized countries is a dangerous diversion, and the law is prompt to punish the guilty. There are men in Madison county who do not seem to know that it is almost as criminal in the eyes of right thinking people to abuse a horse as to abuse a wife. The penalties in many states for overworking, overdriving, overloading and abusing a horse in any way are very severe. The quality and size of a man's heart can be fairly determined by his treatment of the animal creation.

When we see on the streets of Richmond every day evidences of brutality of which unreasoning animals would hardly be guilty; when we see poor, old, starved horses compelled to do hard work week after week; when we see ignorant and thoughtless drivers in buggies, delivery wagons, and carts apply the whip without mercy, we should pray that God will be more merciful to inhuman man than man is to the brute creation. And we see the absolute indifference of nine tenths of our citizens to this cruelty and brutality, washing their hands in innocence, as if the affair were none of theirs, even scoffing at those who dare to take the side of the brute against the tyrants who maltreat them, it is refreshing to find a man who stands out against the miseries of a great city, and has a good word for the horse even in business hours. We give him the right hand of fellowship, and welcome him to the inner circle of those whose sympathies go out to the suffering of every name and every species in the wide circle of creation.

Yours truly
Rev. E. B. Barnes.

The Festival of Foolishness

"The Festival of Foolishness" presented on Thursday evening by the Y. M. C. A. of the State Normal under the direction of Mr. R. G. Stott the author, an uproarious success. In fact, from the time the curtain rose on the "Tabloid Minstrel" till it fell on the Faculty Meeting "As It Aint" there was one continuous applause. Here the caste was chosen with an eye to fitness the "Artist" Miss Gibson, the "Reader" Miss Hurst, the "Uplifter" Miss Heverly, the "Fan" Mr. Keith and the "Scribe" the inimitable Mr. Stott.

Among the student body were several real stars, all of whom did their "stunts" like professional vaudeville players. Of these Mr. Klick, as the "Candidate" carried off the first prize, Miss Baker, who represented the phono-graph, took the second and Mr. John Booth as the "Hypnotist" was awarded the third. The Phrenologist should have been given a fourth, but the prizes ran out.

Quite a nice amount was made for defraying the expenses of the Y. M. C. A. delegate, to the convention, which was a most worthy cause.

We congratulate Mr. Stott on the success of the enterprise.

Lad Death

James Fletcher living near Red House, died suddenly Saturday night. He had been complaining for several days but had been up and at work, on Saturday afternoon had stacked some rye. About midnight his wife's attention was attracted by Mr. Fletcher throwing his left arm across her and the baby, when she attempted to remove the arm she found it rigid, and he was unconscious. She aroused the family, but he was dead before medical aid could be summoned, or before anything could be done for him. The cause of his death was a mystery. He had been overheated a few days before then and probably death was due to that. He left a wife whose maiden name was Hunt, and five children.

The Tennis Tournament

The annual tennis tournament of the State Normal began on Saturday, July 4, and will continue this week. Mr. William Burnam had the honor of winning the cup last year and will descend it against all contestants this season. A cup valued at $25 will be given to the lady champion also. Much interest is being centered in this event.

Local Option Election

Bell county will hold a local option election on September 28th. It is predicted that it will carry by a large majority. Rev. J. V. Logan well known here is enlisted in the cause.

The Cause of Divorces

The records of the Louisville Circuit Court shows that 90% of the divorce cases brought there are from runaway marriages, where the ceremony is performed in Jeffersonville, the place of note for runaway marriages. This proves the folly of elopements for premature marriages of the younger people. The old proverb "think twice before you act" will often apply to young people who have nothing in mind but to get married. They generally act twice before they have time to think once.—Ex.

Can't Keep Still

If it is true that President Roosevelt must have six weeks of absolute quiet before he can make any public speeches, it is quite clear that the public speeches will never be made.

McCreary

Judge J. M. Lassing, of Covington, and one of the Democratic leaders of the State is supporting McCreary, and says that McCreary will get a large vote in Sixth Congressional District. Rep. Harvey J. Myers, of Covington, and Jno. W. Holland, of Shelbyville, two of the commissioners of Kentucky to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, claim that their respective localities are strong for McCreary. Judge M. L. Downs, of Carrollton, says that McCreary is very strong in Carroll county.

Casting Bread Upon The Water

"Mr. E. Williams has been conducting a series of lessons on Agriculture, meeting the class which includes several farmers of the neighborhood, at the schoolhouse on Tuesday nights. Soils, plants, crop production and kindred subjects have been taken up and the lesson for next Tuesday night will be "Diseases of Plants." Mr. Williams certainly shows a most commendable public spirit in doing this work without any compensation other than the pleasure he may find in doing good for its own sake.—Elizabeth-town News.

The E. W. Williams named in the foregoing article formerly lived in Richmond on Lancaster Avenue and attended the Normal School, graduating in the class of 1913. The motto of that class was "Harmony and Service."

Mr. Williams is a very energetic worker and a man of the highest integrity and it affords us much pleasure to know that he

E. P. Morrow Will Run For Governor

Edward P. Morrow says in all probability he will be a Republican candidate for Governor. Mr. Morrow retired from the office of United States Attorney for the Eastern district of Kentucky on July 1, and Thomas Slattery, of Maysville, was sworn in. Mr. Morrow is a nephew of the late Senator William O. Bradley.

He Was Out

A gentleman who was once stopped by an old man begging, replied:
"Don't you know, my man, that fortune knocks once at every man's door?"
"Yes," said the old man, "he knocked at my door once, but I was out, and ever since then he sent his daughter."
"His daughter?" replied the gentleman. "What do you mean?"
"Why, Miss Fortune."
